Forecast for Wednesday 27 Jul 2022

Weather: A cool start with any early morning patches of mist and fog soon clearing around dawn, leaving Snowdonia under mostly clear skies. Cloud bubbling up during the course of the morning and early afternoon, perhaps with a risk of an isolated light shower. High and medium level cloud increasing from the west late in the afternoon leading to a hazy end to the day.

Chance of cloud-free hill tops above 800m: 90%

Low Cloud and visibility: Early morning mist and patchy fog may limit visibilities initially, however any mist and fog will soon clear with excellent visibilities throughout the day with only temporary reductions in any showers. Cloud bases well above the level of summits throughout the day.
